THE ABSURD HISTORY OF CELEBRITY CULTURE

Fame. Extraordinary decisions. Unbelievable consequences.

A hotel pool becomes the setting for a rock legend. A celebrity's environmental message collides with luxury travel. An inflatable pig escapes an album-cover shoot and drifts into the flight path of approaching aircraft.

The Absurd History of Celebrity Culture (AHOCC) explores the strange, provocative and occasionally poignant stories behind familiar names.

Produced independently by C3 Comedy, the series combines historical inspiration with original storytelling, satire, fictionalised dialogue and cinematic visual performances.

Across nine published episodes, AHOCC explores fame, excess, controversy and the extraordinary human decisions behind unbelievable events.

Humour drives the storytelling, with room for empathy and uncertainty.

WATCH FREE ON YOUTUBE

c3comedy.com

SEASON ONE — NINE PUBLISHED EPISODES

01 KEITH MOON
How To Drown A Car

Keith Moon's birthday party descends into hotel chaos, while a disputed car-in-pool story grows into one of rock history's most enduring legends.

WATCH EPISODE

02 LEONARDO DICAPRIO
Climate Hero, Gate B12

Leonardo DiCaprio's environmental advocacy meets reports of private jets and luxury yachts, as the episode examines the contradictions surrounding a celebrated climate messenger.

WATCH EPISODE

03 ELTON JOHN
Never Enough

A court dispute exposes Elton John's extraordinary spending, while his appetite for flowers becomes a cinematic comedy of abundance, accounting and celebrity excess.

WATCH EPISODE

04 MILLI VANILLI
Chorus On Repeat

A skipping backing track interrupts Milli Vanilli's performance; months later, a producer's admission brings their recording deception and the industry behind it into focus.

WATCH EPISODE

05 BILLY IDOL
Bangkok Hotel Siege

Billy Idol's Bangkok holiday spirals through weeks of partying and hotel destruction, ending in a departure his autobiography describes as tranquilised and military-escorted.

WATCH EPISODE

06 MADONNA
Sex Book Panic

Madonna's sealed, metal-covered Sex book turns publication into public spectacle, as demands for a ban and media outrage become part of its commercial momentum.

WATCH EPISODE

07 MICHAEL JACKSON
Bubbles Tells HIStory

Through Bubbles' imagined narration, the episode follows his friendship with Michael Jackson, their shared celebrity spotlight and the separation that changed the chimpanzee's life.

WATCH EPISODE

08 OZZY OSBOURNE
The Rabies Bite

Ozzy Osbourne bites into a bat during a concert, triggering a notorious rock-and-roll incident followed by medical treatment and fears of rabies.

WATCH EPISODE

09 PINK FLOYD
Pig UFO Alarm

During a Pink Floyd album-cover shoot at Battersea Power Station, an inflatable pig breaks free, alarms aviation authorities and eventually lands in Kent.

WATCH EPISODE

AN INDEPENDENT CREATIVE PRODUCTION

C3 Comedy is an independent Australian entertainment production from Aesthetic Engine Pty. Ltd. Its approach begins with the stories behind celebrity culture: documented incidents, published accounts and the ways those events have been remembered, disputed or transformed through retelling.

The creative emphasis is on storytelling, humour and empathy. A spectacular mistake may provide the starting point, but the surrounding questions often concern recognisable human impulses: wanting more, protecting an image, enjoying attention or allowing a situation to continue beyond reason.

FROM HISTORICAL INSPIRATION TO CINEMATIC SATIRE

AHOCC brings those stories into a scripted entertainment format. Original writing shapes the narrative, narration guides the audience, and visual scenes give the comedy its scale and atmosphere. Fictionalised dialogue allows familiar events to be explored through imagined exchanges and perspectives, including the deliberately impossible viewpoint of Bubbles the chimpanzee.

THE PRODUCTION

Original human narration and scripting, combined with AI-assisted visual performances and human-led post-production, create AHOCC's distinctive cinematic style.

FACT, FICTION AND PERFORMANCE

The visual performances are stylised creative interpretations. They are not historical documentary footage or authentic recordings of the people depicted. Where dialogue is fictionalised, it should be understood as part of the storytelling.

The series distinguishes historical inspiration from invented performance and acknowledges uncertainty where accounts differ. Featured individuals, their representatives and estates have not participated in, authorised or endorsed the production.

MEDIA INFORMATION

SERIES AT A GLANCE

Series	The Absurd History of Celebrity Culture (AHOCC)
Producer/publisher	C3 Comedy
Production company	Aesthetic Engine Pty. Ltd.
Production base	Australia
Format	Cinematic episodic entertainment
Published episodes	Nine in Season One
Viewing	Free on YouTube

SERIES DESCRIPTION FOR EDITORIAL REFERENCE

The Absurd History of Celebrity Culture is an independent cinematic entertainment series from C3 Comedy. Drawing on extraordinary stories from celebrity history, it combines original narration, satire, fictionalised dialogue and stylised visual performances to explore fame, excess and the human decisions behind unbelievable events.

LANGUAGE ACCESSIBILITY

All nine published episodes offer subtitle tracks in nine languages, including English: Arabic, Chinese (Traditional), English, German, Hindi, Japanese, Korean, Portuguese (Brazil) and Spanish. Regional labels vary by episode.

Additional audio-language options may be provided automatically by YouTube; these should not be described as professionally produced C3 dubbing.

INDEPENDENCE AND MEDIA USE

AHOCC is an independent production. Fictionalised dialogue and performances are creative interpretations, not authentic celebrity recordings. Featured individuals, representatives and estates have not participated in, authorised or endorsed the series.

For artwork requests, interview enquiries or proposed use of series materials, contact C3 Comedy. Reproduction and other media-use permissions require separate approval.

OFFICIAL RESOURCES AND CONTACT

Website and Season One collection: c3comedy.com
YouTube channel: C3 Comedy
Media enquiries: team@c3comedy.com